DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendment dated 06/27/2003 has been received and entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
- 3. Claims 1-9 and 11 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Broer et al., US Patent No. 5,808,713, in view of Ciupke et al., US Patent No. 5,461,547 and Masuda et al., US Patent No. 6,340,999, as stated in the previous office action.
- 4. Claims 12-14 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Broer et al., US Patent No. 5,808,713, in view of Ciupke et al., US Patent No. 5,461,547 and Masuda et al., US Patent No. 6,340,999, and further in view of Koretoshi, JP 11-142618, as stated in the previous office action.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 5. Claim 10 is allowed.
- 6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: regarding claim 11, relevant prior art of record did not disclose, alone or in combination, an LCD device comprising a prismatic concave portions being constituted by discontinuous grooves each of which has a length of not smaller than five times as large as a depth of the groove and in which a longitudinal direction of the groove is substantially parallel to a side surface of an LCD panel on which a light source is disposed.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 06/27/2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive as follow:

Regarding claim 1, Applicants argue that the combined references do not teach or suggest the feature of the claimed invention (amendment, page 11), since Masuda et al. do not disclose the refractive index of the liquid crystal display substrate (amendment, page 13). The Examiner agrees that the refractive index of glass depends of the specification of the particular glass; however, the Examiner respectfully disagrees with the applicant's viewpoint and respectfully invited the applicant to review the Masuda et al. reference (col. 16, lines 17) in which Masuda et al. do disclose that a liquid crystal display substrate can be "a glass plate or an acrylic plate" (the refractive index of the acrylic n=1.491). In other words, Masuda et al. do disclose a refractive index difference of the optical path changing sheet and a nearest LCD substrate is not higher than 0.15 as well as a refractive index difference of an adhesive layer and the nearest LCD substrate is not higher than 0.2 (or 0.1 in claim 6).

Accordingly, the limitation of claim 1 met.

Regarding claims 2-9 and 1-14, those claims depend, either directly or indirectly, from claims 1; therefore, those claims would have been obvious as stated in the previous office action.

Accordingly, the rejection of the above claims 1-9 and 11-14 stands.

Application/Control Number: 09/748,212

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
